“ Dear Kieth,
though our friendship had just begun last year I knew the situation you and Bonnie were going through. I have been praying for you since we met. I am sure you have so many great and wonderful memories of your life together. Jesus said "blessed are they who mourn for they will be comforted " You will laugh and you will cry time will pass quickly at times and ever so slowly at other times. The neat thing is your wife will always be a part of you and you will always be a part of her. the day is coming when we will all be together without pain , sickness ,death or sin. Jesus conquered the grave . the sadness is here in the moment but the joy has already begun the day you met each other and began a life living for the Lord. Can you imagine Bonnies joy today in the presence of the Lord and her anticipation of life eternal with friends and loved ones. God bless you and your family in this difficult time.

“ Having met Bonnie while working at Braceville Elementary, I remember her smiling face every time we tackled a new project to enrich students' lives. Bonnie shared her time and talent anytime she was called upon to assist with any activity. Her jovial attitude always put everyone in a good mood. My family and I pray for friends to comfort you, faith to uphold you, and loving memories to carry you through these difficult times.

“ Bonnie’s passing reminds us to celebrate every single day that we are given without pain or affliction. When the pettiness of minor daily problems is able to steal a moment of happiness from us it’s one less moment of celebrating life with those around us. Life is so very, very fragile. It seems as though the end is somewhere far away, far down the road so we live as though it will come a long time from now. Then we see someone we love experience profound change and through them we see a reminder that we are so very lucky at that particular moment in time. I know. My wife of 33 years is a cancer survivor and if there is a positive outcome that goes along with a cancer situation it is the change in daily focus that each of us can elect to take away from the situation. Remembering the moments of happiness with Bonnie are the shared gems of your two lives together. They are uniquely yours and hers forever. Those are your precious moments, the real celebrations of life. In memory of Bonnie let someone you love know what they mean to you personally, remind them of a moment you haven’t ever forgot, and who knows maybe it will become their frozen memory in time. Just as the lady wrote about – Bonnie and her were having car trouble and yet they were laughing in the midst of a not so good situation. How unique, they would both remember that for the rest of their lives. Don’t remember the end, remember the stuff in between the beginning and the end. Those are the unique personal moments that we get to celebrate if we just remember how very fragile life is. Rest in peace Bonnie - the candle is lit.

“ Keith and Family,

Praying for you all during your time of sorrow. May it comfort your hearts to know that "Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of His saints." (Psalm 116:15) Bonnie is now at rest in a much better place. May you find comfort in Him who is the "God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our affliction" (2 Corinthians 1:3-4).

“ I will miss you so much! But, you and I had some really great times together!! Like driving down North Avenue when it was raining and in your Buick LeSabre (?) and we would hit a puddle and the car would die out. And of course, it was during rush hour when it happened!!! We laughed our selves silly! I have so many more wonderful memories of you, Keith, Paul and I and Justin & Nikki together. I love you as if you were my sister. Rest well my dear friend!
