“ My Deepest Condolences to the Forneris Family. I met Dana when the Chicago based open and over time got to know her. We had many trips together. Dana had a good heart and a sense of humor. She loved her family Dearly.. When I would check in for my trips there was Dana, with her long Auburn Hair and her beautiful Blue eyes at the computer, checking trips, flights. Always at the end of our conversations it was "Have a safe flight. So to you Dana..... "Have a Safe and Beautiful Flight. SOAR WITH THE ANGELS! GOD BLESS YOU! MISS YOU!

“ Twenty-nine years ago we moved to this little no-horse town. Dana was the very first person to stop by and introduce herself to our daughter, Daisy. I can still see them sitting for hours just chit chatting like only 11 year old girls can. I think her instant friendship made moving to a strange new town and new school a little easier for Daisy and for that I will always be grateful. Fly with the angels, sweet Dana. You have a new set of wings now.

Rich and Bev, my heart breaks you both. I can not begin to imagine your pain. May God wrap His loving arms around you in comfort and be a constant presence in the coming days and months.

“ Dana was my older, wiser and more worldly friend growing up. She taught me a lot, most I won't share. One thing that always amazed me about her is that even after she had traveled everywhere and met people from all over, when she came home she was always the same Dana. She still loved shopping with us at the Dwight thrift store and didn't make me feel like she had better things to do, even though she probably did sometimes. She was an all in person, to her current project (or yours) and most of all to her family and friends. I wish I would have taken the time to stop by and let her know this more often. You are missed already Dana.

“ Dana I'm really going to miss you, this was very unexpected and my heart is in deep sorrow. I will never forget the first time we flew together and how you embraced me with your loving yet sarcastic persona. I'm going to miss all those times we had lunch at Shushi Mambo on Bleaker St. The many words of wisdom you shared with me on our walks to your hair appointments. The many times we stopped at the shoe store on the Market St (Ironbound) and the vast collection of shoes you purchased from there, how can I forget? . I'm going to miss our disagreements while pretending to do your nails at your apartment. I'm going to miss celebrating our b-days on March 21st for 5 years in a row. But above all I'm going to miss the love and compassion you had for your family and for those around. Thank you for having given me the chance to be your friend! Till we meet again! 😭

“ My deepest sympathies to Dana's family. I had the pleasure of meeting Dana through work on our many commutes to Newark. You really get to know a person when you are stuck at the airport trying to get to work! She will be greatly missed. The things I will miss the most: she ALWAYS made me laugh, had such a positive attitude, and she was such a giving person... and how can I forget forget all of her great decorating advice! I always looked forward to working with Dana. My thoughts and prayers to her family and friends during this difficult time.

“ Woke up to find out about you leaving us too soon my beautiful Dana. I always looked forward to flying with you and loved your great sense of humor. You had a crazy way of coming up with things that were just too funny....you made me laugh so much. You knew how to rip me a new one and get me back on track when I was loosing it with reserve at Continental. You were a hard worker, a dreamer, and you inspired me to keep fighting hard for my goals. Now everyday when I am flying above the clouds I will think of you...fly higher my Dana. And my home on Dana Court will be more memorable as it will always remember me of you. You've earned your golden wings. You will be missed my friend. Thank you for being a great coworker and friend to me. Good bye beautiful. 🙏🙏

“ I have many, many memories from way back into high school days. Every single one was what a great friend she was. Way back then, when she was stats girl for the wrestling team, she tried to tell me that she thought that me and one specific wrestler would be great together. I thought she was crazy and ignored her advice. Two years later and after high school, turns out that her idea wasn't as crazy as I thought as I am going on 20 years with that person. <3 I recall all the car rides to school and how her and Daisy switched off days and always made sure to pick me up. I remember all our 'dress up' days where we would try on soooo many dresses and clothes and just have fun. I only have a very few pics, but can't imagine how many I would have if we had the technology of today. My family loved her so much and nick named her red because of her fabulous hair. We did keep in touch briefly after high school, but nothing in depth. As time got away with us, we merely ran into each other and tried to catch up as best as we could. I have lots of memories that will never fade, sorry to know that Dana can't be here to share them.
