“ Tribute to Uncle Dan:

For those of you that don't know me, my name is Kara and I am one of Uncle Dan's nieces and the youngest daughter of his older brother, David. Thank you all for being here to honor my uncle, it means the world to his entire family. It has been so evident that he has made a lasting impact on so many of his family, friends, neighbors, acquaintances, and customers with his genuine smile, big wave, and most importantly kind and caring heart by the amount of sincere condolences and kind words that have been expressed to the entire family.

My Uncle Dan lived a simple life, he was content and happy going to work everyday to do a job he loved, seeing his family every day, taking a ride over to South Willy to get out of the house, and enjoying his solitaire in his chair in the evenings.

I like to think of myself as one of my Uncle Dan's prized possessions. :) Because in fact his entire family was his most prized possession. When Katie, Ashley, Brianne and I were little, he stopped by weekly if not nightly to see us, always gave the best Christmas and birthday gifts including my personal favorite Smackdown wrestling tickets (which will always be one of my favorite memories with him), and he never missed an opportunity to give us a big hug and kiss and say he loved us. Most recently, his time spent with his great nieces and nephews lit up his world. The last words he spoke to me were "give your kids a hug and a kiss from me" in his choked up voice. You can guarantee my kids will not go without endless hugs and kisses in honor of their Uncle Dan. I think it is safe to say that we were all beyond fortunate to have the love from an uncle that some may not be fortunate enough to experience from their own parents.

However, there was no greater prized possession or love in his life than his children, Danny and Emma, and his wife, my Aunt Kim. He was so insanely proud of each of them and beyond thankful to have them in his life. He absolutely adored his children and wanted nothing but the best for them. I know the best way that we can all honor my Uncle Dan is by always looking out for Danny and Emma, because there was nothing he wanted more than for them to be happy and feel loved.

My Uncle Dan was so close to his 3 siblings- JoEllyn, David, and Joey. I am almost certain that there wasn't a day that went by that he didn't talk to one of them, if not all of them. He had great loyalty and love for them that extended to the entire family. And he showed that love and loyalty until the day he was taken from us by calling into the Birthday Club for each and every one of our birthdays, including his last 2 birthdays, Uncle Joe's and my sister, Katie's. It seems like such a small act, but it became a constant that we all knew to expect on our birthday mornings. We will miss those more than he could have ever imagined. I can't even begin to express the pride I felt with every comment given about how "You won't find a better group of guys than the Doglio boys". I might be biased, but I completely agree. I think they often got lumped into one group, because no one could tell them apart or tell which one was which, but more importantly I think they all got lumped together as one group because of their collective genuine personalities and caring hearts. And Uncle Dan never missed an opportunity to love on and give a hard time to his "Queenie," my Aunt Jo.

In fact, I realized how close my dad was with his siblings when I noticed that he told them all a little too much. It seemed like there were at least a few years where every time we all got together I was met at the door with a "Come talk to your Uncle Dan" and I knew I was going to be given a hard time about my latest dumb teenager or college mistake and the conversation always ended with a "Hmmm, I don't know about you kid" as he had a big smile on his face and gave you an even bigger hug. In my dad's defense, most of my dumb mistakes had to do with my car

“ Uncle Dan was a great man. He was always the happiest man around me. He would always put a smile on my face. It was always “Hey kiddo” or “is that my Mia Mia, no it’s Leah.” You could always count on a big hug and a funny conversation. He filled your heart with love. Uncle Dan was never short of loving. He may not be here with us now, but he will always live through our hearts. ❤️ Leah Sue

“ *Danny was the best parts manager an automotive shop could ask for. We will miss hearing his voice on the phone every day . When I asked how Emma & Danny were, he would always giggle a little, and I could sense his smile over the phone, and he would always tell me how great you both were. Danny was a great person inside and out and we will miss him. Yesterday was such an odd Monday without him. Rest in eternal peace, Danny.
