“ Katie and I can't make it up there. Worn out from babysitting our two grandsons, etc. Frank was like a gentle giant in many ways. Many of his friends called him "iron claw" because of the tremendous strength of his hands. He had the strength of his dad and the gentleness of his his mother. Frank and I did a lot of hunting and shooting together over the many years of our friendship. I was "Whitus child" to Frank for some reason and we would do about anything for each other. Frank and I had many a good time together with never a spat. I deeply regret not being able to be at his visitation and send off, but circumstances just would not allow it. Condolences to all his close and extended family. Terry and Katie White
